

Complete laying of new concrete work

We providing comprehensive concrete services, including the complete laying of new concrete work. Our experienced team is dedicated to delivering high-quality results tailored to your specific needs.

Before commencing any project, we conduct a thorough assessment of the site where the new concrete will be laid. This involves evaluating the ground conditions, determining the required thickness and type of concrete based on its intended use (such as driveways, patios, or foundations), and planning for drainage and reinforcement if necessary.

Once the assessment is complete, we prepare the site for pouring concrete. This includes clearing any debris, vegetation, or old concrete that may interfere with the new installation. We also ensure that the ground is properly compacted to provide a stable base for the new concrete. Next, we install formwork to shape and contain the new concrete. The formwork is typically made from wood or metal and is designed to hold the wet concrete in place until it cures. We take great care to ensure that all forms are level and secure to prevent any shifting during the pouring process.

After preparing the site and setting up formwork, we mix high-quality concrete according to industry standards. The mixing process ensures that all components-cement, aggregates, water, and additives-are combined uniformly for optimal strength and durability. Once mixed, we pour the concrete into the prepared forms promptly to avoid premature setting.

After pouring, our team employs various finishing techniques depending on your desired outcome. This may include smoothing out surfaces with trowels or floats, adding texture for slip resistance, or creating decorative patterns through stamping or staining.

Curing is a critical step in ensuring that newly laid concrete achieves its maximum strength and durability. We implement proper curing methods such as covering with wet burlap or applying curing compounds to retain moisture during this crucial period.

Once cured, we conduct a final inspection of our work to ensure it meets our high standards of quality and craftsmanship before handing over your new concrete installation.
